(From Singapore papers.) London, 28th Nov.-The 2nd Battalion King's Own Scottish Borderers, 25th Regiment, and one hundred British mounted infantry from Cairo, have been ordered forthwith to Suakin. In the House of Commons, Mr W. H Smith explained that the Government, on learning the steps deemed necessary to repel the continued attacks on Suakin, offered the assistance of a certain number of British troops, who were only to be employed in the immediate vicinity of the town, and this offer was accepted. It is not intended to stop the troops returning from India.

The Company is composed of no less than nine lady into the revenue system of the country and vocalists, Signora Amalia Bourman heading the list. The repertoire of the Company is a good one, in which are included the principal Italian operas. ANOTHER case of opium smuggling was brought under the notice of Mr Pollock in the Police Court to-day. A boatman and his wife were charged, at the instance of Inspector Quincey, with being in unlawful possession of over 1,400 taels of raw opium. They are alleged to have been found in the act of taking the opium into their boat from the Praya, apparently with the object of smuggling it into Chinese territory. The case was remanded.

in the Reuter's telegram received two days ago is a small coasting steamer trading in the West of Scotland. Messrs Jardine, Matheson & Co., the agents of the Glen line, received a telogram yesterday stating that the referrence to their boat was erroneous. Reuter, after making such an egregious blunder, ought surely to have corrected his mistake. The telegram sent here could only be interpreted in one way, namely that the Glencoe, known here, that is the boat of the Glan line, had broken up.

A SHOEMAKER named Chak Chung, residing in Third Street, was charged, before Mr Pollock to-day, with throwing the dead body of a child into the harbour yesterday. water from a wharf at West Point, and ou taking it out and examining it found it to contain the body of a child. Some of the defendant's neighbours stated that his wife ing from some disease that prevented it from opening its mouth. They saw the child yesterday morning alive but in a very weak state, and one of them advised defendant to send it to the Tung Wah Hosquest of the Police, in order to obtain the report of a post mortem examination."

THE Peking correspondent of the Shanghai Mercury writes :- His Ex. Mr A. Conmany has handed to the Tsung li Yamen the now Russian Telegraph Convention for China to join, &c., which possibly means connecting Peking with Kiakhta. I cannot account for this, if it is true that last year this gentleman refused to have anything to do with this convention. And what will Donmark say to it? Telegraphic advices are said to have been just received, that the Commission appointed by His Ex. Li Hung-chang to investigate, and decide which of the several tenders filed in regard to the Tientsin-Tungchow line are to be accepted, are in favour of the English tender, so no doubt you will hear all about it from the Chinese Times. Mr G. A. Butler has departed from here. I hear he is bound to your port on his way to Europe on important business.

Progress in Upper Burma, -In the Commissioner's Administration Report for 1887-8 appears the following satisfactory summary :- The results of the administration of the past eighteen months may now be briefly summarized. The police force has been organized and brought up to strength, and the work of maintaining order which a | year ago was performed by troops, is now being efficiently done by the police under the immediate control of Civil officers. In the case of serious disturbances the aid of the troops is sought and is always cordially afforded. Except in two or three districts there are not more than four or five decoits or rebel leaders of any note or influence in Medical department has been entirely reconstituted. Enquiry has been instituted preparation made for its establishment on a firm basis. Municipal institutions have been introduced. The village system, the basis of the successful administration of the country, has been organized in accordance with the customs of the people, and the hands of District Officers have been strengthened to enable them to administer their charges with the aid of the well-disposed portion of the community. The result has been satisfactory. In every district the people are daily becoming more accustomed to our rule, more willing to aid in the maintenance of order, and more ready to recognize that their interests and those of the Government are identical. During the period of report the Chief Commissioner has visited each distirict of Upper Burms and has met the leading men, taking advantage of every opportunity to point out to them their duties, privileges, and reaponsibilities, and to establish confidence in CHOCOLATE MENIER. It is supposed that the Glencoc referred to the stability and justice of our rule. There is every reason to believe that a course of at eady and continuous progress in all branches of the administration will be sustained throughout the province.

OPENING OF THE NEW ROMAN CATHOLIC CATHEDRAL

The new Roman Catholic Cathedral, which has been in conrecto construction for several years, and which is not yet quite completed so far as the external work is concerned, has now been opened. THE REGATTA DIFFICULTY. A meeting of the Rowing Members of the V. R. C. was held last night to consider the difficulty which has arisen in connection with the forthcoming Regatta. There was a large attendance. The Chairman of the Club, Major Tripp, presided.

Mr Tripp requested the Hon. Secretary

present the object of the meeting. Mr Lockhart said:-The object in requesting your attendance here to-night is to inform you of a certain difficulty which has arison in connection with the four-oared races, tof report what action your Committee has taken on the matter, and to ascertain whether their action has your support or otherwise. On the 24th November last a Committee meeting was held, at which the strokes of the four-oared races were also asked to attend. The reason for requesting them to be present was because it had come to the knowledge of the Committee that there existed certain objections to a private boat being allowed to row in the four-pared races at the Regatta, and it was thought advisable to have all the strokes present, so as to be able to hear what the nature of the objections might be. The matter was very fully discussed at that meeting, which ended by the Chairman, Mr Tripp, informing those present that, asthere were no rules against the use of private boats, and that, us all precedents were in favour of them being allowed, the Committee had no newer to prevent the May Blossom-the private boat in question - from rowing in the o en The ruling of the Chairman would seem to be clear and decisive enough, but for some reason, which is not manifest, it does not seem to have been comprehended by a certain portion of those who were at the meeting, for on the 26th of November a permission, I will read to you :-

This letter was circulated among the extract of the minutes of the former meetwriters that they were evidently labouring under a misapprehension, as it had been definitely decided that the Committee could not prevent the May Blossom from being used. MR DENNY INTERVIEWED. HE LAUGHS AT THE RUSSIAN BOOLE.

A couple of days since one of our staff.

says the N. U. Daily News, had an interview with Mr O. N. Denny, Adviser to the King of Corea, and Director of Foreign Affairs. Mr Denny, from his previous residence at the U.S. Consulate General here, is so well known to most of our readers. that it is unnecessary to preface his remarks with the usual description of his personal appearance. After a mild and good natured protest against the entegorical interview, as on institution, of which, the Reporter reminded him. Mr Denny's countrymen were the responsible patentees. Mr Donny said he had no objection to speak, on Corean affeirs, which he proceeded to do without much appearance of reserve with great fluctory of speech, and carnestness. The first part of the conversation was in a large moveure made up of a justification of his pamphlet, which Mu Denny said he was forced to write to explain his attitude towards the Chinese Resident Yuan, and to place the outside world in possession of the latter's overbearing and blustering conduct towards the Corean Government. Mr Denny expressed himself very forcibly upon the subject of Yuan's misconduct and attitude towards an inde pendent King, who, although a tributary of the Emperor of China, is not, said be, and never has been a vassal of this empire But my chief wish in the line which have taken,' said the King's Adviser, 'is to preserve the good feeling and harmony between China and Corea which have always existed till the present time, and have now only been interrupted by the unfortunate and unbearable conduct of the Represen tative Yuan.' Mr Denny laid great em phasis upon the fact that his position towards China, notwithstanding his championing the cause of the 'Hermit Kingdom was as cordial and friendly as ever, while the feelings towards the Vicerov of Childh were quite as cordial as before the present straining of the relations, between the two countries. Proceeding further into the sub ject of the natural connection between China and Corea, Mr. Denny's language was even more unmistakable, and he spoke of the close bond of intimacy which had during the past, drawn the two countries together. Corea having drawn largely upon China for her laws, religion, manners, custo as, while the sympathies of the two propies have always been in common, and the language of Corea to-day is the language of China of a thousand years ago. But, pursued Mr Denny, 'although everything points to the closest intimacy and friendliness between China and he peninsular neighbour, who it is true has signed a tributary treaty with the Emperor. China has no earthly right to claim, under international laws or usage, or their his torical relations, vassalage from Corea. which has ever jealously preserved, and will I hope, be ever able to preserve her independence and freedom from interference in her domestic as well as international policy, by her more powerful neighbour.' In proof of this assertion Mr Denny reverted to the several treaties pernicious influence of the Chinese Reprewhich Corea has concluded with European sentative. powers, and with the United States, in the preamble that Cores was an independent state. The treaty by which the writer endeavours to place Corea in a false position, was concluded in 1636 with a prince in open rebellion against the then ruling dynasty; and under no rule of international law that I have ever read, can it be construck into a treaty of vassalage to China. It was ten years anterior to the wresting of the Chinese throne rom the Mings by the Manchu dynasty that this treaty was concluded with a Mancha prince. Nor has there ever been. since 1626, any treaty made with China that by any possibility of reasoning could be twisted into a treaty of Corea's vassalage. In reply to a question as to the genuine reason for the recent despatch of embassies to foreign Courts by Cores, Mr Denny said the King had full powers, as he had to make foreign treaties, to send ministers abroad. but when it reached the cars of Yuan that such a step was about to be taken he instantly set himself against it, and endeavoured to frighten the King by threats and by every means in his power, from doing what as an independent sovereign he had a perfectly legal right to do, as I have endeavoured to show in my pamphlet. But the obstructive and throatening action of Yuan had only the effect of confirming the King in his determination to send his representatives to Western Courts 'What do you think of the Russian intrigues in the Capital, will they amount to

He did not share the opinion imagine that all her researces can be availed to some ingenious scribe by his (Mr Denny's) peculiar position in Corea. Speaking of the policy of Japan in Secul. Mr Denny said that since the treaty with Corea in 1876, the Japanese seemed to be directing: all their efforts to the acquisition of commercial advantages and trade, and by friendly intercourse sought to wipe out the painful recollections on the part of the Coreans, of the last great invasion of their country by one of the Tycoons.

As to the ulterior aims in Corea of the

expressed himself as a non-believer in the general opinion that the great object of the Czur's representatives in the Far East is still to extend their territory by the annexation or protectorate of Corea. Mr. Denny went even further in this direction; he gave it as his deliberate opinion that no western power, without the greatest expense, trouble, responsibility and sacrifice of life could obtain a paramount position in Corea. He thought that some kind of settlement was now approaching, and the sooner it came the better it would be for all parties. As far as he himself was concerned, what he was striving for was an amicable agreement with China, and a speedy return to the old paths of amity and harmony between the two countries. This. however, was not what the Chinese Representative by any means desired to sec. Yuan is a military mandarin, with the smattering of military education after a fashion, and with an unlimited and unfortunate belief in the creed of force as a panacea for all political ills. His object all along iad been to excite and fement disturbance in Secul, his leading idea being to come in with a Chinese Army and carry everything before him by force of arms. This was what Mr Denny strove to avert. The Coreans did not aim at results through the force of arms. His Majesty, according to Mr Denny's opinion, is a long way in advance of most of his subjects in progressive deas, and is anything but the vacillating and weak character which he is often represented to be. Strange as it may seem, Mr. Denny does not speak Corean,—only a few words—and carries on his business with the King through an interpreter. One thing of importance which the reporter elicited in the nterview was the fact that the commercial treaty between Russia and Corea, which we recently reprinted from a Japanese paper, and of which no confirmation has hitherto ranspired, may be regarded as authentic. It was signed a couple of months ago by the President of the Council and Mr Denny on behalf of Corea? and M. Waeber, the Russian Minister at Scoul, and it has been or in about to be ratified. By this treaty important privileges are given to Russian traders in Corea, but there is no great political significance in that, said Mr Denny, as all he other powers can claim the same privieges under the favoured nations clause. Mr Denny is a firm believer in the auriferous wealth of Corea, and believes that when the present placer mining is superseded by better methods of extraction, the amount of cold produced will be enormously increased. An oven surer source of wealth he believes also exists in the great timber tracts in the North of the Peninsula, which even now exports large quantities of valuable wood to China, and in conclusion he expressed himself sanguine of Corea's future prosperity, if she succeeds in getting fair treatment from China, and freeing herself from the
